TERMS OF REFERENCE

A BASELINE ASSESSMENT AND DIAGNOSTIC EVALUATION OF TRANSFORMATION IN THE NATIONAL SYSTEM OF INNOVATION

1. BACKGROUND

- 1.1 The imperative to transform the science, technology and innovation system finds expression in several national policies, strategies, and plans. However, monitoring and evaluation reports into selected indicators in the National System of Innovation (NSI) revealed that despite progress made, transformation in the NSI has been under-realised in many areas. These reports also failed to articulate the reasons for slow progress, given the number of policy instruments implemented to address inequality, equity, and discrimination.
- 1.2 As a result, new policies such as the 2019 White Paper on Science, Technology and Innovation put emphasises on inclusivity, transformation, amongst other challenges to be addressed in the system. It is therefore critical to diagnose and understand the root causes that contribute towards the slow progress in the NSI transformation to construct appropriate policies, strategies, and programmes to promote inclusion and address transformation.
- 1.3 In addition, to understanding the root causes, the system needs to understand what the status of transformation in the NSI is. The current monitoring and evaluation instruments are narrow, fragmented and focus on demographics in majority. Despite of this, more work needs to be done in the collection of disaggregated data to assist in monitoring transformation progress on the intersecting identities.
- 1.4 Furthermore, since the NSI is made up of a variety of agents in government, private sector, and civil society. The different stakeholders or agents seem to be approaching transformation from their perspective mandates and the picture presented is fragmented and uncoordinated to the NACI mandate. The concept of transformation itself has been contentious and poorly defined or understood. It is therefore important to ensure consensus of what is a transformed NSI.
- 1.5 Therefore, a relevant and comprehensive definition of transformation in the NSI is necessary to enable monitoring and evaluation to fulfil the NACI's mandate. It is also important to establish a starting point for monitoring and evaluating transformation in the NSI. The baseline will also assist in monitoring and evaluating the impact of a transformation related intervention or project in the system. The system is currently unable to indicate the extent of impact of interventions.

2. PROBLEM STATEMENT

- 2.1 NACI is expected to play a more prominent role in the monitoring and evaluation of the NSI to ensure that the system embraces this broader articulation of transformation as envisaged in the 2019 White Paper on Science and Innovation. However, the state of transformation within the entire NSI is not known. This is because there has never been a comprehensive and coordinated study that look at transformation in the entire NSI. As such, there is no baseline and diagnostic studies conducted for the entire NSI to assist NACI to monitor and evaluate transformation in the entire NSI.

3. PURPOSE OF THE EVALUATION AND BASELINE STUDY

- 3.1 The purpose of these Terms of Reference (ToR) is to invite potential service providers to submit proposals to undertake a baseline assessment and diagnostic evaluation of transformation in the National System of Innovation (NSI). The study will be carried out as defined by the DPME (2019) National Evaluation Policy Framework and the DSI Policy¹, Programme & Project Evaluation Guideline and Standards for Evaluation².
- 3.2 The main objective of the study is to establish a baseline for transformation within the NSI and of the NSI and diagnose the challenges of transformation in the South African NSI to understand the root cause.

4. FOCUS AND SCOPE OF ASSESSMENT AND THE EVALUATION

- 4.1 This study is based on the broader definition of the NSI. Therefore, the study sample should be representative of the broader perspectives on the NSI.
- 4.2 The service provider is expected to assess the current state of transformation in the NSI. In doing so, propose a theory of change for a transformed NSI and provide key indicators of what a transformed NSI.
- 4.3 Secondly, the service provider is expected to conduct a diagnostic evaluation, which will identify challenges and possible solutions to the problems.
- 4.4 As part of the recommendation, the service provider is expected to propose a definition of what transformation in and of the NSI to assist NACI to monitor progress, evaluate the extent of change and advise the government of policy instruments necessary to direct change in the NSI.

5. INTENDED USERS OF THE ASSESSMENT AND EVALUATION

- 5.1 Intended users and stakeholders of the evaluation: The following table depicts potential users of the evaluation results and how they will/may use the information:

6. BUDGET

- 6.1 The service provider should ensure that all prices charged include VAT, the bid proposal should indicate the total price, and the analysis of the costs should be in South African Rands.
- 6.2 The service provider should include a project budget outlining a scheduled cost associated with the proposed project, including timeframes with broad work breakdown structures. Payment of services rendered will be based on the deliverable; see the pricing schedule below:
